

Living out a dream, not an expectation.
Cascading into the world.
Filled with wonder anxiety and awe.
Leaving what has been lived.
Venturing into the personal unknown.
Bound by no ties.
Weighed down by no pressure.
Free to ride upon her breath.
Through the changes of her year.
But through many different people's eyes.
Experiencing a life,
That may never be lived again.
But nevertheless will remain intrinsic in the soul.