

Kidnapped

Kidnapped, kidnapped by a moment.
Taken away, leaving all I know behind.
Stolen, stolen from reality by the most powerful, maybe dangerous force I know.
Led to a place where anything could happen.
Pushed down an unknown path.
One that may never be traced on a map, and never found again.
No borders, no boundaries, where the impossible can be.
Where any destination can be reached at the speed of thought.
But the ransom will be paid, reality will conquer all and I will return.
My imagination will cease.