

Congratulations, you've been selected! You're one of the chosen few,
One of those privileged enough to be invited, to hear Ned & Sarah say I do.

It will be a massive celebration, we're having a fantastic bash,
We've got a great venue, food and band, we've forked out loads of cash.
But before you head off to buy an outfit, or dig your dancing shoes out,
Let us give you an update, on how the engagement came about.

After 2 years together, Ned made the most important decision of his life,
He decided to ask Sarah, if she'd like to become his wife.
In a swanky restaurant, he got down on one knee,
With Love hearts in his hand, he spelt out "Will you" "marry me".
But this wasn't quite enough, once just didn't suffice,
Sarah wasn't paying attention, nearly answered her phone, so Ned had to do it twice!

But she obviously said Yes, so you're invited to the Wedding of the Year,
Make sure you pack a hanky, if you're prone to shed a tear.
Be at St.Laurence's in Adwick, March the 29th by 2,
Get there in plenty of time, to reserve yourself a pew.
And so you don't miss out, we have one major plea,
Don't forget to confirm your place, ensure you R.S.V.P.

Finally please don't spend time buying presents, don't turn up with gifts on the day,
We hope you don't think us rude, but we'd like to do it another way.
If you would be kind enough to give us the money, we can put it in the bank,
Then eventually buy some lovely furniture, with all of you to thank.
We can't wait to see you, so you can join the new Mr & Mrs Jones in a toast,
We want our big day filled, with the people that we care about the most.

xxx

